The Big Picture

- The American Indian and Alaskan Native business community shows some growth, yet their true economic potential is still unrealized.
- In 2007, there were about 237,000 firms generating $34.4 billion in gross receipts and employing 184,000 paid workers.
- Between 2002 and 2007, American Indian and Alaskan Native -owned firms outpaced the growth of non-minority firms by 28 percent in gross receipts and by 18 percent in number of firms.
- American Indian and Alaskan Native firms are found in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.
- The fast growing American Indian and Alaskan Native population increased by 9% during this period, compared to only 1 percent growth for non-minorities.
- The American Indian population had an estimated buying power of $64.7 billion in 2009, larger than the purchasing power of countries such as Kenya ($63.7 B), Burma ($57.5 B), Slovenia ($55.8 B), and Costa Rica ($48.5 B).
- It is important to note that the Survey of Business Owners data includes businesses owned by Native Americans but not tribally-owned businesses, which is a sizable share of the economic output of Indian Country.

American Indian and Alaskan Native-Owned Firms Compared to Non-Minority-Owned Firms

Upside of $1 Million Plus Firms

- While smaller in number, American Indian and Alaskan Native firms with receipts of $1 million or more generate a much larger percentage of all revenues and paid employment than firms with receipts under $1 million.
- American Indian and Alaskan Native firms with receipts of $1 million or more represented 2 percent of all the American Indian and Alaskan Native firms but generated 67 percent of all American Indian and Alaskan Native firms' gross receipts and 63 percent of all their paid employment.
- There were 4,599 American Indian and Alaskan Native firms which generated gross receipts of $1 million or more in 2007. These firms generated combined gross receipts of $23 billion and employed 116,759 workers.
- Average gross receipts of American Indian and Alaskan Native firms generating sales of $1 million or more grew by 5 percent from $4.7 million per firm in 2002 to $5.0 million in 2007.

■ American Indian & Alaska Native (AIAN) Firms ($1 million and above) ■ AIAN Firms (Under $1 million)

Entrepreneurial Parity

- At MBDA, we measure entrepreneurial parity of minority-owned firms. Unfortunately, there is still an entrepreneurial parity gap between American Indian and Alaskan Native firms, (which represent 0.9% of classifiable U.S. firms) and the share of the American Indian and Alaskan Native adult population, which is 1.5 percent of the U.S. adult population.
- If American Indian & Alaska Native firms' gross receipts reflected the 2007 adult American Indian & Alaska Native population share, receipts would have amounted to more than $160 billion—about $126 billion more than the actual figure.
- Paid employment would have totaled nearly 829,000—about 4.5 times the actual employment.
- The number of American Indian & Alaska Native firms would have been over 383,000 firms— nearly 147,000 additional firms.
- More effort should be dedicated to grow and expand American Indian & Alaska Native firms in size and scale.

Entrepreneurial Parity Still Unrealized for American Indian and Alaskan Native Businesses

The Downside

- While American Indian and Alaskan Native-owned firms grew in gross receipts by 28% and in number of firms by 18%, their paid employment decreased or remained stagnant at best.
- Although average gross receipts for American Indian and Alaskan Native-owned firms increased to $145,121, is still far below that of non-minority-owned firms ($490,000).
- Only 10% of all American Indian and Alaskan Native-owned firms have employees. MBDA's goal is to help grow those in emerging industries and those with the potential for size and scale and encourage job creation among these firms.
- As the American Indian and Alaskan Native population increases in the U.S., the success of this business community is equally critical for job creation.

Minority-Owned Firms Gross Receipts

Average Gross Receipts
American Indian and Alaskan Native-owned businesses	Minority-owned businesses	Non-minority-owned businesses
$145,000	$179,000	$490,000

The Future

- MBDA is committed to making sure the growth and competitiveness of the minority business community continues to be a national priority.
- MBDA is creating the foundation for the next generation of $100 million minority-owned firms capable of employing the growing minority population, expanding our tax base and securing our position as a global leader.
- Last year, MBDA assisted minority owned firms in accessing more than $3 billion in contracts and financings, creating more than 3,000 jobs.
- To grow more minority-owned firms to size and capacity, MBDA encourages minority businesses to consider growth by mergers and acquisition, joint ventures and strategic partnerships.
